

Did You Know

By Pat J. Kirwin

THAT the first gas light in Circleville blazed forth in the store room and offices of the W. W. Bierce Co., W. Main-st., on Christmas Eve, 1857. Several hundred residents of the city and county were on hand to witness "this new spectacle" and those who saw it went away wondering, papers of the time relate. The light and miniature gas works were constructed by Robert T. Coverdale of Cincinnati who later completed Circleville's first gas works and put it into operation in the latter part of the year 1859. The apparatus which furnished the first gas light in the city consisted of three pieces, a retort similar to a small caldron, 18 inches in diameter and 14 inches deep, heated by a small furnace. It was capable of generating 100 cubic feet of gas per hour. The other parts were a small square box for pumping, and a gas holder for storing the gas. Both the store room and offices of the Bierce Company were lighted by chandeliers with six burners and four single lights. "This new spectacle made the rooms as light as day," papers of the time commented.

That the young lads of Circleville in 1856 had their fun and good times by shooting arrows at persons on the streets, rather than use the sling-shot or paper-wad method. The Herald of the time remarks, "For some time the lads of this city have been 'armed and equipped,' not as the law directs, but with bows and arrows, amusing themselves by shooting in every direction—greatly to the danger of the passers-by. On Monday last, March 15, 1856, a gentleman was passing on the street and an arrow from the bow of one of these little warriors struck him below the eye." Great fun was had when one of the "little warriors" was able to shoot through the tall hats of the male passers-by.

That the first lights were installed on the Scioto river bridge on March 15, 1856, by the Circleville and Washington Turnpike Co. The city council also aided financially in erecting the lights. "A man riding in a buggy fell asleep one night just before he reached the bridge and his horse almost took him in the river," the papers of the time related in approving the project, and suggesting that the lights would prevent other such accidents.

THAT the first daily newspaper was issued in Circleville on Feb. 18, 1856... but it lived only several months. Weekly newspapers were published in this city beginning in 1811 but the first daily came 45 years later. The paper was started by three young "typers," Messrs. Durban, Chamberlain and Grumman of Zanesville and was edited by William Bremigan, one time editor of the weekly Herald. It was called "The Daily Circleville Herald." The Democrat and Watchman, one of the three weekly papers of the time had this to say of its passing: "The Daily Circleville Herald... is dead. We laughed at the editor when he ventured upon the foolish experiment, and he replied as snappily as a vixen in the suds. He ought to have known that none but men of the most eminent genius should undertake to conduct a daily in a small town."

That Circleville had five fire department units in 1859. The general organization included Acker King, chief engineer; Thomas Rains, first assistant engineer, and Henry Walters, second assistant. The fire companies and their foremen were Scioto Engine Co., John Eaton; Torrent Engine Co., James Pedrick; Niagara Hose Co., Henry S. Miller; Deluge Hose Co., James Stearns; and Citizens Hook and Ladder Co., William Baader.

SENATE PLANS NEW FARM AID

Ready To Expand Currency As Means of Bringing Permanent Relief.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—While bowing to President Roosevelt's wishes in passing on the new farm relief bill, the Senate agriculture committee today was sponsoring a drive to force expansion of the currency as a means of restoring permanent prosperity to the American farmer.

The new farm bill will conform to the President's views, as outlined to the committee at a White House conference. All suggestions for material modification of the measure will be abandoned and the bill favorably reported to the Senate in much the form it passed the House. It may be held in committee until next week in order to attach as a "rider" the administration's new plan for refinancing farm mortgages.

The farm mortgage bill will be acted on Monday by the Senate banking and currency committee. It was said to be based on a plan of using federal land banks to refinance farm mortgages, which mortgagees voluntarily agreed to reduce, over a long term period at a low rate of interest. The mortgagees would be paid in bonds, the interest of which would be guaranteed by the treasury and for which the government would create a market.

Cleveland Author of 3.2 Bill to Investigate All Angles FARIS IS APPOINTEE

Applications for Licenses Being Studied

COLUMBUS, April 1.—A fight against Governor George White's appointment of L. L. Faris, of Lynchburg, as state director of liquor control, was threatened today by leading state senators while Faris was setting up machinery to give 3.2 per cent beer to Ohio next Friday.

Asserting that "the whole commission has been thrown under a cloud," Senator Joseph N. Ackerman (R) of Cleveland, author of the Ackerman beer bill, declared he will investigate the facts behind Faris, resignation as secretary of the Ohio civil service commission during the Cox administration.

Such a storm of protest arose when Governor White appointed Faris as prohibition commissioner in 1931 that Faris declined the appointment. State senators at that time said they would refuse to confirm the appointment.

"DOCTORED" GRADES?

Faris had been charged with "doctoring" the grades received in civil service examination, advancing Democrats above Republicans. He vehemently denied the accusation.

Using senatorial confirmation as a weapon again, the senate may refuse to approve the appointments of all members of the beer commission unless the Faris appointment is withdrawn, Ackerman said. The Faris appointment is not subject to confirmation under the Ackerman law.

"This would not prevent beer from flowing on April 7, however. As the legislature is now in recess until May 15, members of the commission will proceed undisturbed in their tasks until the two houses reconvene, when a vote on confirmation will be taken in the Senate."

Faris, a life-long dry who said he "never had a drink," said with apparent confidence today that legal beer will be sold at 12:01 a. m. next Friday despite the difficulties encountered by the commission in issuing licenses.

STUDY APPLICANTS

The task of going over hundreds of applications for licenses will be gigantic, he said.

Faris conferred by telephone with the three members of the commission already named, and made arrangements to confer with them. Those appointed are Judge Edward T. Dixon of Cincinnati, Attorney L. J. Sklenicka of Cleveland, and John M. Taylor, Columbus, a coal dealer.

Governor White was in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., today for a week-end holiday, but he indicated before leaving that other appointments might be announced by Democratic State Chairman Henry C. Brunner.

SALE OF BEER TO OPEN FIELD FOR C. C. OF A.

Expected Bottle Box Demand to Give Straw Board More Orders

PAEPCKE QUOTED

Figures on 1932's Operation Are Disclosed

An added field for the sale of products manufactured by the Container Corporation of America has been opened in Ohio and other states with the return of beer next Friday.

Walter P. Paepcke, president of the corporation, in a communication to local plant officials declared:

"Your company is following with substantial interest the prevailing trend in national sentiment toward liberalizing prohibition legislation and the prospective return of beer and other alcoholic beverages, inasmuch as such action would open an additional field for the sale of your company's products, namely, bottle boxes."

LETTER QUOTED

Mr. Paepcke's communication, also sent to all stockholders of the corporation, read as follows: "Operations of the Company and its subsidiaries for the year ended December 31, 1932 resulted in a net loss of $1,380,362.95 as compared with a net loss of $908,436.28 (excluding extraordinary income and charges) for the previous year. These results are after provision for depreciation and include deductions for repairs, uncollectible accounts, interest charges, and amortization of discount and expense on the Company's bonds and debentures. Profit realized on bonds of your Company purchased at a discount during the year is not included in the operating loss as was the case in the previous year but is considered as a direct adjustment to surplus. Depreciation has been charged against both operating and non-operating plants at the same rates as used in prior years.

"The 1932 net loss exceeded the 1931 net loss by $471,927. Both (Continued on Page Three).

CRASH KILLS SIX

NEODESHEA, Kan., April 1.—Department of commerce inspectors today were to examine the wreckage of the tri-motored passenger plane which crashed near here, killing six persons and seriously injuring eight other passengers as it was carrying the championship basketball team of Canada northward.

FARMER HURT

On See-Saw of Destiny

The "ups and downs" of life were never better illustrated than by this picture. Chancellor Adolf Hitler, once a humble house painter and now dictator of Germany, is shown chatting with former Crown Prince Wilhelm who was in line to rule the country before his father's abdication and who is now an ordinary citizen. They are pictured at Potsdam just before the opening of the special session of the Reichstag at which Hitler demanded and was granted dictatorial power.

Police Confront Poison Mystery

PORTSMOUTH, April 1.—Confronted by a baffling poisoning mystery, Portsmouth authorities today prepared to conduct an autopsy into the deaths of two young women whose bodies were found on a bed in a fashionable West End apartment here last night.

The bodies, identified as Mrs. Dorothy McCormick, 17, of Portsmouth, and Miss Murial Howard, 18, of Scioto Furnace, near here, were found by Walter George, 21, and Hiram Schmeller, 22.

Both the girls had been dead for approximately 12 hours, according to the analysis conducted by the coroner.

WENT TO KEEP DATE
George and Schmeller, who said they found the bodies when they went to the apartment "to keep a date," were detained by police for questioning in connection with the mystery.

Poisoning undoubtedly was responsible for the deaths, according to the coroner. The autopsy today was expected to determine whether the girls were victims of an overdose of a sleeping potion, or whether they died from poisoned food or beverage.

The two girls rented the apartment only last Thursday, it was learned. They had paid a week's rent in advance.

Search was being made today, police said, for Mrs. McCormick's husband, from whom, it was understood, she had been estranged.

DOOR FOUND OPEN
Although it was not definitely determined whether the girls were victims of suicide or murder, police were investigating the possibility of violence as a result of the claim by George and Schmeller that the door of the apartment was slightly ajar when they called last night.

From all indications, police determined, the girls died peacefully. There were no signs of a struggle in the apartment.

The autopsy today was to be conducted by Coroner Ross with the assistance of Virgil Fowler, noted criminologist.

VINEY IS JAILED

JEWISH BUSINESS STOPS AS GERMAN 'BOYCOTT' BEGINS

Pope Pius Urges Prayer, Faith To End Depression

Extraordinary Holy Year Inaugurates; Ancient Ritual Held.

VATICAN CITY, April 1.—In the hope a world-wide manifestation of prayer and faith will "end a depression that has lasted too long," Pope Pius XI, today formally inaugurated an extraordinary Holy Year to commemorate the nineteenth centenary of the death of Christ.

The Holy Year itself will begin tomorrow, when the first of a series of special masses are said in churches of the Roman Catholic faith throughout the world.

But the ancient, picturesque and impressive ritual of the Holy See was followed today, with the twelve-month period of prayer inaugurated by the opening of the Holy door in the basilica of St. Peter by the supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic hierarchy.

STORM TOLL REACHES 70

Mississippi Heaviest Hit; 40 Known Dead; Storm Lasts 36 Hours.

SHREVEPORT, La., April 1.—Violent tornadoes which in the past 36 hours have hurled death and destruction across four states left a known death list of 70 persons today in addition to hundreds of injured and property damage that reached staggering proportions.

Originating in the east Texas lumbering region the hurricane-like winds swept northeastward into Louisiana, touched southern Arkansas and then whirled into Mississippi where villages and rural communities were uprooted and 40 persons were killed. The larger cities were spared as the tornadoes tore across the land.

Torrential rains that accompanied the sporadic tornadoes swelled creeks and rivers in Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas, creating a flood menace that threatened to bring further devastation to the plantation and lumbering territory of the deep south.

The heavy rains made by-roads nearly impassable, crippling relief work which was directed by Red Cross officials.

The tentative death toll by states:

Mississippi—40;
Texas—20;
Louisiana—9;
Arkansas—1.

Hundreds of persons, many of them negroes, were injured as the winds threw their houses and buildings upon them. Temporarily isolated by bad roads, many of the injured waited for hours before relief from the outside could reach them.

Rescue workers were still experiencing difficulty in reaching (Continued on Page Three)

The Church Invites You

The Value of Church Attendance

Dr. James H. Snowden says, "The church is the school of our higher life. Here we become conscious of our deepest needs; here is sin seen in its true light as an ugly thing and holiness is seen in its beauty."

It is in public worship which the church provides where is revealed and offered to us the great gospel of mercy and love by which we may be saved.

All need the revelation of the soul's needs with the gospel's salvation. Why not accept the invitation and Come to Church Next Sunday?

SPIRITUAL VALUES

Roger Babson once asked the late Charles P. Steinmetz, the great electrical engineer what line of research would see the greatest development in the next fifty years.

The wizard replied, "I think the greatest discovery will be made along spiritual lines. Here is a force which history teaches has been the greatest power in the development of man in history, and yet we have been merely playing with it and have never seriously studied it as we have the physical forces."

"Some time ago a labor member of the British Parliament was heckled and questioned by the organization and was asked what the foreign policy of the nation should be. He replied, "We have not formulated it definitely but I think we should base it on the Sermon on the Mount."

At this point, a testy old Admiral arose and shouted in consternation, "Gentlemen, gentlemen, if you are going to base the foreign policy of the British empire on the Sermon on the Mount, then all I have to say is, God help England." To which the labor member retorted "And he will."

A good many sins walk under the name "Circumstance."

Lesson for April 2

JESUS MINISTERING TO JEWS AND GENTILES

(World Friendship Lesson)

LESSON TEXT—Mark 7:1-17.

GOLDEN TEXT—And other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice, and there shall be one fold, and one shepherd. John 10:16.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Little Neighbors.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Foreign Woman Meets Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Our Attitude to Other Races.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Ministry of Jesus to All Races.

1. Jesus Dealing With the Pharisees and Scribes (vv. 1-13).

The Pharisees and scribes zealously sought to preserve Judaism from the encroachments of heathenism. In this effort they built up a wall of traditions which in turn obscured the very law of God. As they gathered together unto Christ, he taught them:

1. The emptiness of formal worship (vv. 1-7). The tendency of the human heart is to depart from the life and rest in the form which was calculated to express the life. Christ declared that worship which centered in forms was as empty and meaningless as lip service while the heart is away from God. This kind of service he calls "hypocrisy," and it is common today.

2. It made the Word of God of none effect (vv. 8-13). A case in point was the consecration of earthly goods to escape the responsibilities of caring for one's parents. This made it possible for a man to be living in luxury while his parents were in the poorhouse.

3. The real source of defilement (vv. 14-23). Sin is moral and spiritual. A man is defiled by that which springs out of his soul and not that which enters his mouth. The deliberate choice of the will is the source of defilement (v. 20).

II. Jesus Healing the Daughter of the Syrophenician Woman (vv. 24-30).

In sharp contrast with the apostasy of Israel and their rejection of the Savior, we see in the Syrophenician woman the foregleam of the offer of the Savior to the Gentiles.

1. The mother's awful distress. Her daughter was grievously vexed with the devil. The daughter was the one afflicted, but the mother carried the burden. Doubtless this Gentile woman had heard of the fame of Jesus, his power to heal, and many times longed for him to come that way that her daughter might be healed. She now came straightway to him.

2. Her fervent appeal for help (vv. 25, 26). She humbly fell at Jesus' feet and besought him to cast the devil out.

3. Her faith rewarded (vv. 27-30). A Jesus' apparent refusal (v. 27). According to Matthew he answered her not a word. The reason for his silence was that she appealed to him on the wrong basis, addressing him as the Son of David (Matt. 15:22). An Israelite only had a right to seek his blessing as the Son of David. He was sent to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. Jesus said, "Let the children first be filled: for it is not meet to take the children's bread, and cast it unto the dogs."

b. The woman's quick response (v. 28). As soon as she perceived the real difficulty she addressed him as Lord and cried for help (Matt. 15:25-27). Only an Israelite could approach him as the Son of David, but all could come to him and own him as Lord. She willingly took her place as a Gentile, showing her willingness to receive but the crumbs from the children's table.

c. The glorious issue of her faith (vv. 29, 30). Jesus said, "Go thy way, the devil is gone out of thy daughter."

II. Jesus Healing a Deaf Mute (vv. 31-37).

1. The place (v. 31). This is the region where he had healed the Gadarene demoniac and where the people had requested his withdrawal from this country (Mark 5:20), because of the loss of their swine.

2. The method (vv. 33, 34). a. "He took him aside from the multitude" (v. 33). He did this to avoid publicity.

b. "Put his fingers in his ears, and he spit, and touched his tongue" (v. 33). This was a sign language designed to objectify to the man what Jesus was going to do for him. c. "He looked up to heaven" (v. 34), to show to the man that his help was from God.

d. A command issued (v. 34). The cure was immediate and complete (v. 35).

3. The effect (vv. 36, 37). Though he charged them to "tell no man," so much the more they a great deal published it.

World Religious News

Ave Maria is the name of a village in the state of Wuertemberg, Germany well known as a place of pilgrimage. A new Capuchin monastery has just opened there.

In the early history of New England the people seemed to demand sermons inordinately long. There is a record of a meeting in Maine that lasted continuously from 8 a. m. to 11 p. m. with five sermons. There is also a record of a minister who was too "modern" for the times for he preached a funeral sermon that was "only sixteen minutes long." This brought out disapproving comment.

Dr. E. Stanley Jones arrived from India last month and will be the Lenten speaker at the noon day meetings of the Greater New York Federation of Churches April 10-14. The meetings will be broadcast over the National Broadcasting Company's chain of stations from 12 to 1 each day. Dr. Jones has just completed six months of successful evangelistic meetings in China and Canchuria. At the final meetings in Canton, where the law requires previous registration of those desiring to attend such gatherings, 3500 persons registered before Dr. Jones' arrival in the city. Following the Easter services Dr. Jones will conduct a speaking tour throughout the eastern and southern part of the United States.

Plans are being made to hold a world fellowship of faiths in Chicago during the late summer and early fall. Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and other leaders have sent letters to the outstanding representatives of India, England, Russia, China and Japan explaining the plans and inviting their participation. The meet will be in the nature of parliament of religions similar to that held at the World's Fair in 1893.

A calvary and altar with a bronze cross nearly 200 feet high are to be erected on a hill in the ground of St. Patrick's church, at Braid, Ireland, as a memorial to St. Patrick. Last year was the fifteenth centenary of St. Patrick's landing in Ireland. Braid is four miles from the place where St. Patrick as a boy-tended sheep.

Worry wastes a great deal more energy than work requires.

Courtesy is one valuable item which costs nothing.

Book Review

The minister and the teacher by Professor Athearn, The Century Co. is an interpretation of current trends in Christian education with helpful suggestions for dealing with the problems of religious education.

The up to date Sunday school by J. Elmer Russell, F. H. Revell Co. presents practical plans tried and proved, with helpful suggestions for developing character in the Sunday school.

Church Forum

Suggest a good plan for Christian decisions which might be used Easter Sunday?

The following plan has been suggested by Mr. Chamberlain in the Sunday School Executive: "In the classrooms before Decision Day cards were handed to the scholars who had not yet definitely accepted Christ as their Saviour. Other cards were given those who had formally accepted Christ. With a request from the teachers for earnest prayer and study on the part of the scholars before signing the cards, the decision was left entirely for the young people to make. There was no over-urging, no hasty signing of cards as a result of excitement and mere emotional feeling. On Decision Day the service was simple but impressive. Signed cards were handed to the teachers; there was a period of silent prayer then hymns and special greetings of encouragement to those who had made decision. In the week following, the cards were given to the pastor who later returned them to their owners with a personal note.

Red Birds Lose To Rochester 9

Columbus Red Birds met another member of the St. Louis Cardinals farm system at Spartansburg, S. C., Friday and took it on the chin following a hard-fought contest. The Rochester Red Wings were the victors and the score was 9 to 1.

Paul Dean, youthful pitcher of the birds, was credited with the loss of the game after replacing Bill Lee in the sixth inning. Lee had kept the slate clean in his five innings by allowing only one hit, a triple by Mickey Heath, Rochester's leading slugger. Dean weakened in the eighth inning to allow three runs.

The game was the first of seven scheduled frays between the two double A farm clubs. The Red Birds had previously won four out of six contests with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Columbus' only run was procured in the second inning when Puccinello dropped Lew Riggs' fly in right field and then permitted Manager Ray Blades to smash him for a triple scoring Riggs.

Mickey Heath, Rochester's first baseman, led his team's slugging attack with two triples and a single.

3 BOWLERS ARE INJURED

Near-Tragedy Enters ABC; Show Goes On With Altoona Man Scoring.

COLUMBUS, April 1.—Near-tragedy stuck its foot in the American Bowling Congress today when three members of the Van Dam team from Grand Rapids, Mich., were injured in an automobile-truck smash-up last night near Fostoria, O.

The three injured were Clair Porter, Dick Vandermeer and Herman Groeters. Although their injuries were not regarded as serious, it was expected that they would be forced to abandon plans for participating in the tournament. The two other members of the team, Vick Hiding, and C. Porter, escaped from the accident uninjured and continued on to Columbus by train.

SHOW GOES ON

Despite the near-tragedy, "The show went on" today at the A. B. C. championship alleys. Some of the heaviest pin-rolling of the tournament thus far was predicted for the week-end.

An Altoona, Pa., kegler led yesterday's assault against the tenpins. He was Phil Werner, one of the top-notchers, who scattered the set-ups for a total of 688 points in the singles event, which placed him in third position in the "Big Ten." He also landed in the sixth-place berth in the all-events with a grand tournament total of 1901.

Werner's singles score yesterday was just three pins shy of giving him the top spot in the event.

Fifty-six quintets pounded the pins in the five-man division last night, but none of them was able to knock off the leading Bodnar Undertakers of Cleveland. Two squads, however, managed to slip into "Big Ten" berths.

Ripping the set-ups for games of 969, 911 and 1034 and a total of 2914, the Deane Spark Plug outfit of Toledo, squeezed into eighth place, while the Olive Can quintet of Chicago, ran into a tie with P. A. Kelley's Hugues, also of Chicago, for tenth place. The score of the Olive Can team was 2381 on game scores of 918, 1006 and 837.

TRAINING CAMP...BRIEFS...

MIAMI, Fla., April 1.—After playing the St. Louis Browns here today, the Brooklyn Dodgers will break camp. Manager Max Carey is so pleased with Miami that a deal has been closed for the team to train here again next year.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 1.—The New York Yankees began a two-day series with the Memphis Chickies today. Ram washed out yesterday's scheduled game at Birmingham.

DALLAS, Texas, April 1.—The series between the Tigers and Giants was all square today. Pat Freddy Fitzsimmons, who rarely gets going until summer, held Detroit to one hit in seven innings at Fort Worth yesterday, New York winning 7 to 0.

The Giants probably will sign a new coach today to replace Billy Southworth, released yesterday ostensibly because he injured his knee seriously.

POPE PIUS

entire diplomatic corps and the flower of Rome's aristocracy lent the ceremony a touch of glamor seldom achieved even in Vatican City gatherings.

The spectacle enacted when Pope Pius, in his rich silk robes and triple crown, proceeded from the vatican to St. Peter's to open the Holy door by striking thrice upon its black marble surface with a golden hammer, was a thing of beauty and awesome impressiveness.

But all the brilliant costumes of the pontifical attendants and the uniforms of diplomats and papal knights could not overshadow the fact that the impelling forces behind the ceremony were humble simplicity of mind and supplication of soul.

PENALTY LOWERED

PARTS—A new law recently established in France reduces bigamy from crime to an offense and brings it within the jurisdiction of the correctional courts instead of the assizes. In the past, the penalty for bigamy has been penal servitude, from now on, it will be only from three to six months imprisonment and from two to two hundred dollars fine.

New Trial Revives Mooney's Hope for Pardon

Preparedness Day Bombing Prisoner to Have Day in Court After Sixteen Year Fight—Believes Acquittal Will Win Freedom.

For the first time since his conviction 16 years ago, Tom Mooney, America's best known prisoner, sees real hope that he will win the pardon for which he has fought ceaselessly in the ruling of Judge Louis H. Ward, of San Francisco Superior Court, that Mooney is entitled to trial on an indictment returned in the previous trial, when Mooney was sentenced to death on conviction of participation in the 1916 Preparedness Day bombing which cost ten lives. Although acquittal in the new trial would not be sufficient to free him from San Quentin, friends and attorneys of Mooney fought for the day in court on the theory that the State's failure to win a conviction on the unused indictment would strengthen Mooney's fight for a full pardon. Judge Ward's decision was quickly followed by the withdrawal of District Attorney Matthew A. Brady from prosecution of the case after he had told the court that he was out of sympathy with "such a make-believe trial." Since Mooney's conviction, many attempts have been made to reopen the case, most of them led by his aged mother, Mrs. Mary Mooney. Many of those connected with the prosecution have come forward at various times and asserted that there was doubt of the prisoner's guilt. And it has been openly charged that Mooney was sent to prison on perjured testimony. The last attempt to free the celebrated convict was made by James J. Walker, then Mayor of New York, in 1931, when he made a much publicized plea before Governor James A. Rolph of California. Date for the new trial was set by Judge Ward for April 26.

Expedition to Uncover Ancient City of Lachish

LONDON.—The Old Testament City of Lachish, about 25 miles south of Jerusalem, where the prophet Isaiah prayed that the city be saved from the Assyrians with the result that 18,000 Assyrians were destroyed mysteriously overnight, is to be uncovered.

Sir Henry Wellcome, fellow of the Royal Society, soon will send an expedition into Palestine to clear away the sands of centuries from the city which fell before Sennacherib's armies. Various American archaeological interests also will be represented.

Those interested in Biblical history are looking forward to the findings of the expedition because successive cities built on the foundations and ruins of older cities make Old Testament geography and history perplexing. Authorities think that Tell Duwer is the site of the ancient City of Lachish, and excavations in the environs are expected to reveal the stronghold of the children of Israel.

Chicago's Gain 49,000; Population Is 3,524,000

Chicago — Chicago's population was increased by 49,000 in 1932, bringing the total number of residents in the nation's second largest city to 3,524,000, J. L. Vesley, research director of the Association of Commerce, disclosed.

The increase was under the average annual growth of 67,500 of the past decade.

$150,000 Is Not Going to the Dogs

Denver.—Administration of a $150,000 estate that should have gone to the dogs was ordered investigated by Gov. Edwin C. Johnson recently.

The huge estate was bequeathed to "Shep," hammering shepherd dog, by his master, Fred H. Forrester of Denver, six years ago.

Shep lived luxuriously for two years, then died.

Under terms of the trust the money administered by the Colorado board of child and animal welfare, was to go to homeless dogs of Colorado.

The board has three dog drinking fountains in Denver and assisted the Dan Friends League.

Joseph M. Ward, the examiner, claimed $100,000 of the dogs money had been used in a Texas oil company concern.

The examiner wants to know whether Forrester was receiving the maximum benefits from the trust.

Murderer To Call a Passerby a "Mushroom"

The examiner wants to know whether Forrester was receiving the maximum benefits from the trust.

INSULL PLANS TO ENTER BUSINESS

Negro Says Baby's Mother Knew He Was Going To Take It To Columbus.

Further investigation of the "kidnaping" of a four-months-old colored child Thursday night was being made Saturday by authorities with a result that a solution is expected sometime today.

George Phillips, Columbus negro, took the son of Minerva Thomas, S. Washington-st. from the home to Columbus with him Thursday night with the result that Sheriff Charles Radcliff was called to retrieve the baby.

After he was lodged in the county jail and the baby returned to its mother, Phillips told officers that he and the Thomas girl were married two weeks ago and that she bundled it in a blanket and handed it to him Thursday night knowing that he was going to take it to Columbus.

Mrs. Virginia Ingman, colored Phillips' sister, appeared in Prosecutor Ray Davis' office Saturday and said that she would swear Phillips and the Thomas girl were married in Greenup, Ky.

Prosecutor Davis said Saturday afternoon that Phillips would be freed after Minerva Thomas who admitted marrying the man in Kentucky declined to file charges.

TRAGEDY STRIKES TWICE IN ONE HOUR

CHICAGO April 1.—Tragedy struck twice within an hour at the family of Mrs. Margaret Haskins, 46, today.

The mother had died of a heart attack while attending a sewing club meeting an hour before Robert, her 16-year-old son, unaware of her passing, shot himself three times in the home of a childhood sweetheart Geraldine Pappe, 15. Police could only surmise that disappointment in his love affair had induced Robert, a high school graduate, to try suicide. The youth is expected to die.

through the thickest shopping districts of Berlin including such regions as Alexanderplatz, Leipzigerstrasse and Wittenburgplatz, revealed that most Jewish shops which had open their doors this morning quickly closed.

They had no customers and large crowds gathered before their opened doors.

The association of chain department stores recommended that all department stores throughout the country, including non-Jewish, remain closed today "in order to support the government in defense of the anti-German boycott abroad." This recommendation, however, was only partly heeded.

The biggest department stores closed but many smaller Jewish-owned department stores were open in some sections of Berlin.

Curious crowds gathered outside Jewish shops everywhere. Nazi "sandwich men" bearing posters reading: "Don't buy Jewish" paraded outside these establishments while unnamed Nazi rural communities in Louisiana and Mississippi where the raging storm had torned.

The first tornado after sweeping east Texas crossed the Mississippi river Thursday and whipped into the delta lands and then into the plantation area, killing nine persons before dipping southward. At Brookhaven the tornado killed two women.

Whirling next into the lumbering region the storm killed fourteen residents of the village of Sanderson and eight persons in Hermigny.

Visiting Alabama late the high winds did some damage at Brewton, near Pensacola, Fla., and injured 32 persons.

Along the entire path of the tornadoes heavy rain fell in sheets, doing extensive damage to crops.

The winds were felt as far north as Chattanooga, Tenn., where some property damage was done.

SALE OF BEER

sales dollar volume and sales tonnage volume were less than in 1931, the former reflecting a decrease of 27 per cent and the latter a decrease of only 8 per cent. The substantial decline in sales dollar volume is attributable principally to a consistent downward trend in selling prices which continued practically throughout the entire year; during the last five months of the year, however, a slight upward trend in selling prices became evident and this trend has held during the first two months of the present year.

"The paperboard industry as a whole operated at approximately 55 per cent of full capacity during 1932 as compared to 67 per cent in 1931, 69.6 per cent in 1930 and 75 per cent in 1929; your Corporation operated during the year 1932 at about the same ratio as the industry. From the above percentage figures it is apparent that the consuming demand in this particular industry has held up remarkably well. On the other hand, price conditions in the industry were unsatisfactory; in fact, price levels in 1932 were approximately 60 per cent less than in 1927. Because of the heavy fixed asset investment in paperboard companies, there has usually been an unduly aggressive effort made by all competitors in this field to secure volume in order to help sustain the large carrying costs of depreciation, taxes, insurance, etc., of these substantial investments, with a consequent result of demoralized price levels."

Junior Boys, Frosh Girls Win Basketball Finals

Displaying an unusually tight defense, which allowed the opponents only one field goal throughout the entire encounter, the juniors copped the class basketball tournament Thursday evening by downing the senior five 12 to 6.

With the tournament championship at stake, both teams were a bit over anxious with the result that fouling was quite frequent and shooting was hurried. The latter accounts, to a great extent, for the low score although the five defensive play of both teams must not be overlooked.

Despite the fact that there wasn't much scoring, it was an exciting contest to witness and the spectators were yelling or jumping every minute.

The juniors scored a bucket midway in the second quarter to break the tie and stayed out in front for the remainder of the contest but their lead was never big enough until the final seconds, when they could feel safe or that the seniors couldn't with two successive field goals tie the score and take the lead.

Scoring activities were begun about three minutes after the game started when Lee Cook dumped a one-bander from around the free throw district. This was followed by a charity toss by Hickey to make the count 2-1 in the juniors favor. The quarter ended without further scoring.

After coming out of their huddle the seniors took the lead when Laughlin got his teams only two minutes of the game. The lead was short lived however, as Fred Smith made good on a free throw and M. Campbell scored a pretty shot to put the juniors ahead 3-3. From this point the victory was never headed. R. Campbell scored for the seniors from the free throw line and Smith from the field for the juniors to bring the score at 7-4 at half time.

During each of the final two periods the juniors were in the first the losers were held to one point. Clitt got the seniors' third quarter points after Cook scored from the center of the floor. The fourth quarter was opened by Hickey scoring from the fifteen foot line. The seniors then read 9-6 juniors and the seniors were still hopeful. But they failed to connect during the closing minutes while a side shot by Warner and a foul by Cook saved things up for the juniors.

The whole junior team played well and was deserving of winning the banner. Cook and Smith led the offense while Skaggs and Campbell were outstanding defensive players. For the losers Laughlin fought best.

TOTALS 1 4 6

Following the final game of the basketball tournament the officials, coaches and scorers cast their votes for an all-tournament team. One seemed to have his own ideas and twenty different boys were named on the four ballots for the first and second teams.

The juniors, who were champions, and the sophomores both placed two men on the first team while the seniors received the other berth.

The champs also placed two men on the second five and each of the other classes are represented by one player.

The first and second team selections follow:
FIRST TEAM
Cook (Capt.) Junior f.
Kilwin, Sophomore f.
Speakman, Sophomore c.
Laughlin, Senior g.
M. Campbell, Junior g.
SECOND TEAM
Weaver (Capt.) Sophomore f.
Gordon, Junior f.
Skaggs, Junior c.
McClure, Senior g.
Doan, Freshman g.
Cook, the spark plug of the junior aggregation was a unanimous choice both for forward and captain. He is a dead shot, having led his team in scoring throughout the campaign. He is likewise a cool and steady player.

Kilwin, who was selected as a running mate for Cook, is a good point maker and a real ball hawk. We are expecting things from this little Irishman in the next two years.

Dean White, an outstanding athlete of the senior class has 11 letters to his credit. He was awarded four letters for football, four letters for basketball, and three letters for track. To end his athletic record he has had one year of swimming.

Other than his work as an athlete, he was President of the freshman class. Last year he was a member of the Boys' Glee Club. He served in his junior year on the decoration committee of the Junior-Senior banquet.

Through his part in the "Radio Mystery" he became a member of the Thespians.

Strange Facts
Paul Wallace has never had a broken bone in his life—yet he has been run over by an auto four times and has fallen fifteen feet to a brick walk.

Gene Rader was named after Gene Stratton Porter.

John Maxey's name was on the church cradle roll three seconds after his birth. His father stood ready with pen in hand to put a boy's or girl's name to the prepared document. The doc said, "boy," and dad wrote, "John."

Do you know that Jimmy Smith learned to play seven different musical instruments in less than three years and played in seven musical organizations and over three different radio stations, one for a period of eight weeks, before he was 17 years of age.

Emanuel Hundley wins and loses a basketball game. At the beginning of the second half of the Bexley and Circleville Reserves game. Changing baskets confused him momentarily. The final score was 14-12.

SENIORS TAKE TESTS
The Pickaway-co scholarship test for high school seniors was given Friday, March 24, by a committee under the direction of D. L. Buchanan, county superintendent of schools.

Students who took the test are Ned Gruber, Sara May, Aynell Haacker, Rosemary Jackson, John Mason and John Maxey.

Tests were taken in English, science, history, mathematics and the world today.

JUNIOR PLAY TO BE APRIL 5, 6

"Heart Trouble," a true domestic comedy. There is ample food for thought in this play. Every home in America would be the better for looking in on the struggles of the Morrisons. It is one of the Gateway Series of Tested Plays which are designed for amateur use. These plays have been tested in production and therefore are not that of the commercial or professional situation, but rather that of school or little theatre presentation, under conditions peculiar to such productions.

The play is under the direction of Charles F. Hax. Adult tickets for 25 cents and students for 15 cents may be purchased from any student of the junior class and reserved at Barnhill's Dry Cleaning shop.

Should we or should we not have chapel every day? Harold Ankrom says, "We should not have chapel every day because it takes us away from our studies. Chapel every morning would become boring. Of course on the other hand chapel with song and prayer every morning would help us through the day."

Ruth Newland says, "Certainly! For the students who are not so studious, it shortens the periods and gives them an excuse for not having their lessons. More of these students would have a better attendance if we would have chapel every morning."

Esther Beavers says, "We should have chapel every morning because it makes us feel in better spirits and enables us to get our lessons better."

Mark Maxey says, "The ordinary person likes chapel because of its entertainment or relaxation in case of a speech. There should be more prayer and song in a student's daily routine. Too many extended chapel programs promote laziness and lack of concentration on lessons. A long chapel once in a while is a diversion from the regular school grind."

C. H. S. GLEE CLUBS

Songs being rehearsed by the Girls' Glee club for the spring and commencement programs include, "Listen to the Lambs," a negro spiritual arranged by N. Dett; "Now is the Month of Maying," an English Madrigal by Thomas Morley; "May Day Carol," Essex-co; English folk song arranged by Deems Taylor; "Chinese Lullaby" from "East is West" by Robert Hood Bowers.

Boys' Glee club rehearsals include the songs, "Pickaninny Kid" by David Guion; "Where'er You Walk" from "Semele" by Handel; "Passing By" and "Widdelcombe Fair," a Devonshire folk song arranged by Cecil Forsythe.

Songs of the Senior Glee club are "Rosita," a Cuban folk song; "Ma Little Banjo" by William Dychmont; "In These Delightful Pleasant Groves," an English Madrigal by Henry Purcell and "Triumph," "Thanksgiving" by Sergei Rachmanoff.

C. H. S. Coaches Award Letters

An assembly was held Friday morning for the purpose of presenting basketball letters. A total of 17 letters were presented. The girls receiving letters are Ellen Bennett, Kathryn Brown, Elizabeth Hilyard, Rosemary Jackson, Doris Moffitt, Evelyn Furell, Martha Rader and Theda Bowsher, manager.

The boys receiving letters are Dean White, William Heggie, Ganes Hill, Robert Friece, Lloyd Leasure, John Porter, Emanuel Hundley, John Jenkins and Billy Steele.

Seven seniors received letters, five girls and two boys; seven juniors, two girls and five boys; two sophomores, one boy and one girl, and one freshman boy.

Jr. Reserves Take Hike

DARIUS GREEN AND HIS FLYING MACHINE

One day in spring a tall slender, and silly-looking boy was standing by an old shed. He saw a bird flying in the air. A thought came to Darius as he watched the bird. He said to himself, "Birds can fly. So why can't I?" He thought about it a minute. Then he went into the old shed. He sat down on the floor and began his work. He had six brothers. They slipped up and peeped through the cracks in the shed. As he hammered and hammered at his machine his brothers laughed and laughed at him.

After while he had it finished. He put a chicken feather on his back for a tail. He put a pair of leather wings on. He put a board out from the window of the shed. He gave a jump. Then all at once he hit the ground with a loud crash. His brothers just hollered and laughed at him. He never tried to fly again.

May Be Rail Czar

Appointment of a "Federal Co-ordinator of Railroads" with broad powers to effect economies in operation of the lines has developed as the keystone in President Roosevelt's plans for dealing with the railroad emergency. Prominently mentioned in this connection is Walter D. Hines, of New York, who was Director General of Railroads during the World War. He is an authority on railroads and anti-trust laws.

They had great overhanging brows giving their eyes a sunken appearance, McCown said. He pointed out that their lower jaws were immense, and that they probably walked with a slouching gait, their knees bent. They were about five feet nine inches tall, several inches taller than prehistoric men found in the past.

McCown said the work was extremely slow since it was necessary to drill into solid rock. When the bones were reached great blocks were cut around them. These blocks were covered with plaster and cement and placed in wooden boxes to protect them from possible injury.

Miss Weldon Reads Tale Concerning Hotel Boggs

Editor's Note—The following paper entitled "Never a Derelict" was read before the Papyrus club here Friday afternoon by Miss Nell M. Weldon. It is an original composition and since it deals so vividly with the Hotel Boggs which will be torn down if present plans of the government to build a post office building on the site materialize it is passed on to The Herald's readers.

To those of the older regime the thought of tearing down the Hotel Boggs must stir memories of "When You and I Were Young Maggie." Not only the social life of Circleville but the surrounding country has been so closely interwoven in its history.

For a century this hotel has stood! A hundred years old and still ranking first! What is it about the place that has made it so outstanding? Certainly not the building itself. There is no value in the old structure that was at first small, to which rooms were added and later raised two stories as it remained against the coming and going of generations. It was its policy, the unwritten law of a home where all is right that like the cardinal virtues in the human has given the Pickaway House as it was called by R. D. Atwater, one of its builders, that character in which it has never been derelict but stands first even now under its shadow of the ax that must hew it down.

The contacts on its register—didn't they find it good to be there? In the early history of Circleville as was the case in other towns of that period hotels were much better patronized than they are now. People traveled in coaches and all kinds of vehicles as well as on horseback and they generally lodged, took their meals and had their horses fed at the hotels on their route. These hotels were so often the common taverns with their bars; the travelers were too often young and restless. And in the hit and miss of their lodgings who can estimate the sobering influence of such a place as the Pickaway House. Perhaps to it is due, some of the decisions of history that were in the making those days.

And the old house is not without its love story, too. In the early 80s here was given the holiday hop for the young folk just returning from schools and their friends from abroad who had come with them. The old dining room was cleared; perhaps there was a table with the quivering gelatin and the macaroons done in a pyramid of spun sugar in one of its corners. The occasion was in no sense provincial. There was the thrill of the grand march. The gentlemen in the swallow-tailed coats, the ladies décolleté, in dresses of soft silk or velvet made in the prevailing fashion of big sleeves, little waist and long train. Life beamed under the rhythm of the schottische, the glide and state grace of the Dos a Dos down half the length of the long room in the Virginia reel. There was a breath of Astor life about it all which the boys and girls had brought with them.

McCown, who returned here recently after heading a joint expedition of the American School of Prehistoric Research and the British School of Archaeology, unearthed eight skeletons of the Mousterian period which probably link Neanderthal man to the modern.

Four of the skeletons were found in excellent condition and four others were fragmentary, McCown said.

Sir Arthur Keith, noted British anthropologist, characterized the discovery as one of the most important ever made.

While at work in the same cave last year, McCown obtained the skeleton of a child, and returned this year to complete his work. Although there will be controversy as to the exact place of this ancient race in the evolution of man, it is believed probably it was a close link to modern man, McCown said.

The skeletons were found in postures which indicated they had been buried by their kinsmen. These prehistoric men possessed chins, which is a fact not found in earlier discoveries.

FIND MISSING LINK IN PALESTINE CAVE

Connects Up Neanderthal Man With Modern.

Berkeley, Calif.—Digging in a cave on the west side of Mount Carmel in Palestine during the summer, Theodore D. McCown, University of California anthropologist, unearthed what is believed to be the "missing link" in the evolution of man.
